Winners In Tennis Tournament At Falling River Country Club

Players and fans alike enjoyed exciting tennis at FRCC last week-end as the club held its first annual ladies' and mens' doubles tournament. Emerging in first place for the men was Mark and Mitch Eggleston while the ladies' first place went to Ruby Ferguson and Carol Cozart. Mens' second place went to Tommy O'Brien and Sam Kerr. After a very close final match, Pat Roberts and Peggy Farris captured second place for the ladies' doubles.

Competition for the ladies began Saturday morning at 8:00 playing 8 game pro sets, using a 9 point tie-breaker when necessary. After first round eliminations the semi-finals brought Janet Wilhoit and Frances Lewis across the net from Pat Roberts and Peggy Farris, while Kate Gray and Jackie Smith faced Ruby Ferguson and Carol Cozart. Playing the best 2 out of 3 sets, Roberts and Farris won their match 6-0, 6-0. Ferguson and Cozart took three sets to eliminate their opponents 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

The eight game pro sets used in the first two rounds of mens competition on Saturday afternoon brought Mitch and Mark Eggleston to face Gene Hartzell and Rick Thompson in one semi-final match held at noon on Sunday. Occuping the other semi-final court was Tommy O'Brien and Sam Kerr against J. T. and Larry Guill. The former caught the Egglestons to the finals with 6-2,6-0. The latter resulted in a 6-4,6-2 win for O'Brien and Kerr.

The finals for both men and ladies were hard played matches on Sunday afternoon in front of approximately 125 spectators. A two hours, 3 set match with one set ending on the ninth point of a nine point tie breaker brought great suspense to the ladies championship. It was only after playing eight match points in the final game that Ferguson and Cozart won 6-2,6-7,6-4. Equally exciting, the men's finals found the Egglestons behind 1-4 in the first set only to fight back to a 7-5,6-4 victory.

There was a special award given to each team that served a love set. Those receiving the prize of a can of tennis balls were the Egglestons, Kerr and O'Brien, The Guill's, and Farris and Roberts.

The tournament committee wants to express appreciation to everyone for their support of the tournament; special thanks is extended to Guill's Restaurant for its contribution to the refreshments. Everyone is encouraged to continue their enthusiasm as the Juniors' Tournament (ages 15 and under) is played August 12-13 and a mixed doubles tournament planned for later in August.

Bryants See Parade of Tall Ships

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bryant of Vera were in Baltimore, Maryland last week visiting Mrs. Bryant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman, and had the opportunity to view the parade of the Tall Ships that were docked in the Baltimore Harbor. Shown above is a picture of the Italian vessel taken by Mr. Bryant. They also have snapshots of the ships from Venezuela, Israel, Germany and United States. They were planning to board the Italian ship but the waiting line was so long time didn't permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant stated that seeing these ships was an unforgetable experience. Accompanying them on this trip was Mrs. Bryant's grandson, Johnny Sligh.

The Birth of Our Nation

In this year of celebration
Of the birth of our great nation
We should ever thankful be for our freedom and liberty
Without the fear of tyrant power.
We make our choices each hour
Brothers by their brothers stand,
Guranteeing rights to every man.
Under the God of all the earth
Came about our nation's birth.
May we in sacrifice willingly give,
That this nation shall ever live
Stand in love and readiness of mind
God's laws to obey all the time.
For the lost go out and search
Bring them into God's Holy Church.
Sound anew our freedom's song
Support the weak and right the wrong.
We are all creatures of his creation.
Precious each one in every nation.
The right to worship to work or play.
Freedoms that we enjoy each day.
Let us not forget the lives,
sweat and tears,
That has kept us free throughout the years.
Our tears and joy in combination
To those who founded our great nation.
Let us now in this perennial
Celebrate with joy our Bicentennial.
Thanking God when we pray
For our homes, our flag, our land - The U.S.A.

VA Questions

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.)

Q - I am rated 40 per cent for service-connected compensation. Am I eligible for an additional amount for dependents?

A - No. Additional allowances for dependents are limited to veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 50 per cent or more.

Q - I have been told that when a couple applies for a GI home loan, both salaries of the couple will be taken into consideration. Is this correct?

A - yes. The VA considers all income of the veteran and sprouse. Only income not figured into the loan qualification is that considered to be temporary. This practice makes it easier for lower income couples to get a VA loan.

Q - I am a World War II vetran with five-year level premium term insurance in the amount of $10,000. Must I convert the whole amount when I decide on a permanent plan?

A - You may convert all or any part of the face value in multiples of $500, but not less than $1,000 to one or more permanent plan.

IF KEY MAN DISABLED

When Tom Simpson was disabled in an auto accident, his ability to earn money for his employer ceased. Tom's employer felt an obligation to continue his salary despite the setback in production and profits. A far-sighted employer, he was covered by a key-man accident and sickness policy on his valuable employees.

The premiums for such a policy are fully deductible as a business expense. Should the key man become disabled, the amounts paid to him to compensate for loss of wages during absence from work are excluded from gross income up to a rate of $100 per week after the first 30 days of disability.

From the employee's standpoint, the benefits of accident and sickness insurance would improve his morale and sense of well being. The employer is not faced with the problem of continuing all or part of the disabled man's salary concurrently with meeting replacement cost. It guarantees the employers that he will not have to pay two salaries for the same job.
